CITY LIGHTING

Franchise In Question.

BASTIN BROTHERS TRYING TO SET ASIDE THEIR CONTRACT WITH CITY AND SEEK ANOTHER OF HIGHER RATE.

(Editorial)

A few weeks ago Bastin Brothers, owners of the lighting franchise of the City asked for a raise of rates for private and public lighting of the City, although the rates were fixed by contract purchased by them at public sale.

Not receiving the sympathy from the Council that they hoped for effort was made to forfeit or set aside this contract.

They set up a claim that this contract was not binding because the Constitution of the State limits the City's authority in selling franchise rights or making contracts to a term not exceeding twenty years. The contract in question limits the privilege of Bastin Brothers to twenty years, but the contract was accepted about sixty days prior to the beginning of the term of contract. Bastin Brothers now fall upon this as a technical reason to permit them to avoid the contract and are undertaking to do so and are now asking another contract at an increased rate for both public and private lighting and power. They are urging an immediate settlement of the question in order, apparently, to force a sale of another franchise by the City while building material is high and labor is difficult to obtain in order to force higher rates. In other words, while conditions are such that they may force the city into paying a higher rate. While it may be admitted that it is a debatable question whether they are correct or not as to their legal, technical objection to the contract, it is greatly to the City's benefit not to be forced into a sale of a franchise at this time while construction of all kinds is so high as to be almost prohibitory. In order to avoid this contract Bastin Brothers have given public notice that they would cease to furnish service under it to the City and its inhabitants after August 1, 1920.

A suit has been filed by Mr. J. I. Hamilton in the form of an injunction suit against Bastin Brothers presumably to test the question upon the legality of the contract. This suit takes the form, or pretended form, by Mr. Hamilton that he is acting for the benefit of the people. But it is understood generally and could be for no other purpose in its present form but to assist Bastin Brothers to ascertain at an early date the Court's opinion upon the legality of the franchise contract on its face. In other words this suit was filed and intended to operate for the benefit of the defendant Bastin Brothers.

To this suit the City has made no answer of record so far as we are informed. We learn that Judge Hardin in hearing the case although holding the franchise not binding on Bastin Brothers expresses doubt as to whether it is or whether it is not binding. We have no doubt that a contrary opinion would have been delivered by the Court had the City plead in this case in addition to undertaking to uphold the contract in its form that ninety days notice is and was not sufficient notice to avoid the contract, and that under the circumstances and present business conditions that the City could not fairly secure another lighting plant constructed in the City within a period of twenty four months and that since this is an executed contract on the part of Bastin Brothers that they could not repudiate it in the time that they seek to even if their contention be correct. There is another vital question that could be raised in favor of the City and its inhabitants that Bastin Brothers have construed this contract to be binding and good and have induced people who are citizens of the town to spend large sums of money in buying motors from them and attaching to their power plant and are now estopped from repudiating this contract. We do not think that Bastin Brothers should be permitted to repudiate this contract fairly and honestly entered into on the part of the City simply because that times have made it a little more expensive for them to operate the plant and presently their income not so great from this business. It is the duty of the City authorities to oppose vigorously this attempt on the part of Bastin Brothers and to fight every inch of the ground. It is a huge mistake for the City authorities to agree to anything that will precipitate an early decision in favor of the Bastin Brothers, and if the City authorities have agreed to any steps to hasten a decision it is all worked out for the benefit of Bastin Brothers and to the detriment of the City. We do not know when things will become normal again, but it is certainly for the benefit of the City to delay as long as possible the sale of another franchise should the Court decide that the Bastin Brothers can avoid this contract upon any technical ground. We feel sure that Bastin Brothers will continue to give service under this contract for many months if the City authorities will fight the case along the lines suggested herein.

RICHARD BURTON

Buys Handsome Home In Danville.

The Misses Sallie Lee and Eugene Young sold their beautiful home on Lexington Avenue at public auction for $16,400 to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burton, of Garrard county last Saturday afternoon. Captain Thos. D. English was on the block. The place is one of the most delightfully located in Danville and is a real home. Mr. and Mrs. Burton are both well and favorably known in Danville and they are coming here for the purpose of educating their children and enjoying the life and prosperity this splendid city affords; they are among the very best people of Garrard county and they will find a warm welcome awaiting them here. Danville is fast getting a colony of these splendid, enterprising Garrard county people. We have yet room for some more just like the ones we have and the Advocate extends on behalf of the county and city a warm greeting to them. They will move over in the early fall in time for the opening of schools. Mr. Burton will continue to run his farm in Garrard county, which is one of the best in this section of the State. Danville Advocate.

Good On The Farmer.

Copious rains last week aided the farmer, and great headway was made in getting out the tobacco crop. The season was taken advantage of by every farmer who had plants large enough to set, and who could secure the labor, and a goodly per cent of the county's acreage was set.

Streets To Be Oiled.

The City Council has contracted for oil and Supt. Herron has a force of hands busily engaged in placing the streets in condition for a coat of oil. This is very beneficial for the abatement of the dust nuisance. However it is very disagreeable when first applied, and it is to be hoped the job will be finished before Chautauqua, when the town will be filled with visitors.

Large Order.

Probably, the largest single order ever given in Central Kentucky for ice cream was that awarded Bastin Bros. by Berea College for their commencement exercises on Wednesday of this week. This order required two trucks to haul it and the weight of same was over 5000 pounds.

This is the fourth year that Bastin Brothers have furnished ice cream to Berea College.

Robinson.

On the afternoon of Thursday, June 3rd, the spirit of Miss Maud Robinson returned to the God who gave it. She had been seriously ill for several weeks and, the end, while a terrible shock to her relatives and friends, was not unexpected. Her remains were taken to the old family burying ground in Jackson county on Friday, where they rest to await the dawn of the resurrection morn.

Miss Maud Robinson was just twenty one years old, and up until very recently she was in apparently the best of health, and gave promise of a bright and useful future; pretty and vivacious, she won friends readily, but alas, death ever seeks a shining mark, and she was stricken in the very prime of her young womanhood by a complication of diseases, and the end came speedily.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson, and besides her parents, leaves two sisters, Misses Pearlina and Etta, and one brother, Charles Robinson to mourn her loss.

The heart of the entire community goes out to these estimable people in their distress, more especially as this is the second time within the last few years that they have been called upon to give up one of their loved ones.

It is to be hoped that the City authorities will agree to anything that will precipitate an early decision in favor of the Bastin Brothers, and if the City authorities have agreed to any steps to hasten a decision it is all worked out for the benefit of Bastin Brothers and to the detriment of the City. We do not know when things will become normal again, but it is certainly for the benefit of the City to delay as long as possible the sale of another franchise should the Court decide that the Bastin Brothers can avoid this contract upon any technical ground. We feel sure that Bastin Brothers will continue to give service under this contract for many months if the City authorities will fight the case along the lines suggested herein.

BY ALL MEANS

"Bury The Hatchet"

AND IN AN UNMARKED GRAVE, THAT IT MAY NEVER BE RESURRECTED.

Billy Miller's suggestion that the recent joint meeting of the Stanford Post American Legion with the local Post might mark the "burying of the hatchet" between Lancaster and Stanford, brings to mind a very silly idea that exists chiefly in the minds of the youthful football and baseball players of the two cities, namely that one of the towns at one time suffered a great wrong at the hands of the other, thereby establishing a feud between the two towns, which it was their solemn duty to uphold and maintain. As a result of this silly belief, their games often wound up in a fight, the visitors, in whichever town they chanced to be, usually coming out second best, and leaving with the old flame again fanned to white heat in the youthful mind.

Now this old fabled wrong is purely mythical, never occurred, and there is every reason why the two little cities, who are such close neighbors, whose interests are so identical, whose people are practically one people, whose sons and daughters have married and intermarried, whose citizens have migrated back and forth, should be the very best of friends.

We are very sorry to say that in days gone this silly feeling has been at times abetted by the older people, those who should have known better, and as a result serious brawls among the boys occurred.

This is a progressive age, we are seeking to build up a greater and better Kentucky, and this undertaking takes all that is best in all of us, so by all means let us "bury the hatchet" forever and anon, and live as good and true neighbors should. Let us discourage this silly and uncalled for idea, that has no foundation upon fact, and is unworthy of even schoolboy notice.

FIRST HONOR

Goes To Dan Elkin At Medical University.

(Atlanta Constitution)

"Dan Collier Elkin who was graduated with first honor in the medical department of Emory University, is from Lancaster Kentucky, and is a nephew of Dr. W. S. Elkin, of Atlanta. He was graduated from Yale University four years ago and immediately entered the Medical department of Emory University. He had made a remarkable record in his studies, and has a host of friends in Atlanta to congratulate him on his successes.

Dr. Elkin will go to New York this summer and will be attached to the staff of one of the largest hospitals there. He will probably return to Atlanta and make his residence here."

MRS. TAYLOR

Suffers Painful Injury.

On last Thursday afternoon Mrs. Belle Taylor fell in her yard at her home on Richmond street and broke her hip. The accident happened during a heavy downpour of rain, and as it was sometime before assistance reached her, it was feared that pneumonia would develop. However this was avoided, and the fracture, while very painful, is doing nicely and it is hoped and believed that the estimable lady will soon be out again.

Watch For His Ad.

Watch for the adv. of James B. Leavell's 250 acre farm, for sale privately. Land lays as well and as good as any in the county. Watered by concrete tanks, pools and fish lake. See the crops now growing. For further description see the ad in next weeks paper, or call at this office, or James B. Leavell, Bryantsville, Ky.

Prof. Mannix Dead.

Lancaster people will learn with regret of the death of Prof. J. E. Mannix, which occurred recently at his home in Oklahoma. Prof. Mannix was at one time superintendent of the local schools, leaving here for western Kentucky, going thence to the western central states finally locating in Oklahoma.

Prof. Mannix was a splendid educator, and there are yet many in Lancaster who cherish pleasant memories of him, and who will hear with regret of his demise.

GARRARD COUNTY

Tobacco Warehouse,

Elects Officers.

DECLARES FIFTEEN PER CENT DIVIDEND, ON THE STOCK.

The annual election of officers for the Garrard County Tobacco warehouse was held in Lancaster on June the fifth. The board of directors was reduced from fifteen to seven. It was found by last years experience that the business of the house could be better conducted with a less number on the board. Mr. J. W. Sweeney was elected president for the next year. Mr. E. G. Davidson declining to serve in that capacity longer on account of his duties as cashier of the Citizens Bank. The following directors were selected: J. W. Sweeney, E. H. Marksbury, S. B. Sanders, John D. Wynn, W. B. Keiley, R. L. Burton and T. C. Rankin.

Mr. John M. Farra was elected secretary.

The Company sold more than four million pounds of tobacco last year, which brought a gross sum of nearly two million dollars. The directors declared an annual dividend of fifteen per cent on the stock and carried several thousand dollars to the reserve fund to meet incidentals and pay taxes. Besides there are a number of debts due the company as a result of the unpaid purchases of tobacco for last year which the officers and attorneys are expecting to collect, which will swell the dividend to an additional 10 per cent. This was a fine showing for a new market and the stockholders were well pleased.

It was voted at the meeting to increase the capital stock from sixty thousand to eighty thousand dollars in order to make some additional improvements to the house and pay for some already made. This stock was quickly taken up by the old stockholders.

Lancaster is destined to be one of the big tobacco markets of the state, and nothing can add to the business of this city, as much as the success of this enterprise. With another big house under construction which will be ready for business by November first, we should have a ten million market in 1921, then watch Lancaster boom.

Get Ready for Chautauqua.

Chautauqua begins in Lancaster on July 2nd, and continues five days. This pleasant annual event attracts a goodly number of visitors, and we should begin now and place our city in as presentable a condition as possible. A general cleaning up of the premises and liberal use of white-wash works wonders in the appearance of your premises and it is to be hoped that the citizens will resort to these methods liberally.

Supreme Court

Upholds Prohibition.

The highest Court of the Country upholds the Eighteenth Amendment and declares that the law enforcing prohibition known as the Volstead Act is constitutional. With this decision the only future liquor controversies be for the people that may arise will be on the changing of the laws as to the per cent of alcohol that any beverage drink may contain. This may be one of the issues in the congressional races at the fall election.

Work Progressing On

New Tobacco Warehouse.

The contractor for the new tobacco warehouse has arrived and has commenced the work of clearing the lot and putting in the foundation for the new structure. Material is beginning to arrive, and with the opening of the season the building will be completed, and Lancaster can boast of two splendid warehouses and market second to none of its size in the state.

A Card.

It is being asserted that we have no repairs for the John Deere mower. THIS IS UNTRUE. We have in our store sickles, Pitmans Knife heads, Pitmans straps, guards, section ribs, bits and belts etc, for John Deere Mowers and don't have to send off for them. We sell only first class quality goods. An Oliver Cultivator, cheap. Buggies and Harness. SEE OUR ADD. J. R. Mount & Co.

CLOSING

EXERCISES

Of Lancaster Graded and High School Prove Most Interesting,

And Attract Large Crowds.

The closing exercises of the Lancaster Graded and High School which have been in progress since the last issue of the Record, mark the finish of what has been decidedly the most successful year of that splendid institution, and by the interest manifested in the various exercises and entertainments prove our school to be decidedly our best municipal asset.

The various entertainments offered the public show not only the proficiency of the pupils but strikingly illustrates the splendid efforts of the faculty, who from the principal down have labored unceasingly and tirelessly to make the splendid success of which we have been given evidence.

On Thursday evening of last week the charming little Operetta "Yanki San" was given by the pupils of the various grades, and on Friday evening the Seniors gave their play entitled "Dorothy's Neighbors". Both of these entertainments were most interesting and gave evidence of rigid and careful training upon the part of the teachers and strict application by the participants. Both offerings were most graciously received by the large audiences witnessing them, and the keen interest taken by our people showed conclusively that their hearts are with our school.

It would be folly to attempt to go into details of these plays, to name the "stars," there were none, they were all stars, the participants each and every one of them going through with their parts with the ease and grace of old and tried "play actors". Many splendid voices in the Operetta showed that there is considerable musical talent in the school, while splendid training, both in music and elocution was to be noticed in both plays.

On Sunday morning the Baccalaureate sermon was preached by Rev. Moss of the Nicholasville Methodist church. Taking his theme from the beautiful book of Esther, he pointed in a clear and concise manner for the benefit of the young lady members of the graduating class to the possibilities for women in this new era now just dawning for womanhood; holding up for their benefit the beautiful and unselfish Queen Esther, and reciting her heroic accomplishments for the benefit of her people.

It was the desire and intention of Supt. Hopkins to have State Supt. George Colvin to deliver the diploma or rather make the closing address to the graduating class, but at the eleventh hour Prof. Colvin found it impossible to be here, and the services of Prof. Coates of Eastern Normal, Richmond, were secured in his stead. The choice proved an admirable one. The address of Prof. Coates was most pleasing, and he brought some thoughts and suggestions, which if adopted will prove of inestimable value to the school in future. For instance, he dwelt at some length upon the advisability, or as he suggested, the necessity, of looking more carefully after the physical welfare of the student body; periodical, eye, ear, nose and throat, as well as other bodily ailments, thus preventing the lagging, and in many instances, the dropping out entirely of many members of the student body.

Prof. Coates' theme was "Equality of Opportunity America's Contribution To The World," and his address proved most interesting to the entire audience, as well as to the graduating class.

The personnel of the graduating class is as follows:—Misses Amy Dawes, Lillian Estes, Stella Henry, Nelle Noland, Alice Sutton, Josephine Burnside, Mary Brown, Stella Mae Grow and Thelma Hamilton, and Messrs Elisha Carrier, Homer Rice and Frances Elliott.

After delivering the diplomas to the graduating class, who, since being principal of the school, he had seen enter the high school, and has watched with particular care and interest to their graduation, Prof. Hopkins announced feelingly that with their graduation and severance of their relationship with the school, he too, would cease to be connected with the school. Prof. Hopkins alluded to the school as "the best school in the state", and attributed its success to the hearty cooperation of all concerned, teachers, students, parents, trustees and the community in general. He expressed his intention of visiting the school often in the future.

PROF P. H. HOPKINS

Superintendent Of The Lancaster Schools,

RESIGNS TO ACCEPT MORE LUCRATIVE EMPLOYMENT.

It will not be gratifying news to the patrons of our splendid schools to know that Prof. Hopkins, who has been a leading factor in bringing our school up to its present high standard, has severed his connection with that institution, and leaves at once to assume new duties.

In April of this year the General Educational Board of New York, whose activities are financed by the Rockefeller Foundation Fund, upon the recommendation of Supt. of Public Instruction George Colvin, tendered to Prof. Hopkins the position of State Supervisor of Elementary and Rural Schools for the Eastern Normal district of Kentucky; this appointment Prof. Hopkins declined, and thought the matter closed. He was re-elected by the local school board as superintendent of Lancaster schools for another year. However, wholly unexpectedly Prof. Hopkins was again proffered the position last week, and in such alluring terms, that he felt that he could not again refuse it, and being released by the local board, he accepted the offer and will take up his new duties at once. The salary is, we understand, a very lucrative one, and from a professional standpoint, Prof. Hopkins is receiving a decidedly handsome promotion, and however reluctant we are to lose him, we cannot but feel that he is doing the proper thing, and offer our sincere congratulations and best wishes for success in his new work.

Prof. Hopkins has served four years as Superintendent of Lancaster schools, 1916 to 1920, and the high state of efficiency to which he has brought the school is attested by the splendid closing and graduating exercises, which our people have witnessed during the last week, and also by the fact that Lancaster schools are excelled by no schools of a fifth class city in Kentucky, and its virtue as an educational institution is not even confined by the borders of the state.

Mrs. Hopkins, who was also a member of the faculty, will be sadly missed as one of the most efficient members of our splendid corps of teachers.

Prof. Hopkins, aside from his educational duties, has during his stay in Lancaster been a most useful and progressive citizen, ever active in any undertaking for the public weal, and ever ready to give of his time and talent to further the community welfare. Active in religious fraternal and social activities, he possesses all of the attributes which tend to make an exemplary and desirable citizen, and we heartily commend him to the people of his new home, wherever it may be.

The office of the Supervisor is in the Capitol building at Frankfort. However, those who have preceded Prof. Hopkins in the position have made their home in Lexington, and Prof. Hopkins has not fully decided as yet just where he will take up his abode; he assures us however that he will visit Lancaster as frequently as possible, both socially and officially, and we are sure a warm welcome ever awaits him.

and wished for it unbounded success. At the close of the exercises, the audience flocked en masse to the stage to bid a sad farewell to this justly popular educator, with whom we so reluctantly part.

We would not feel that we had completed our task did we not say a word in regard to the services rendered by Mrs. Mae Hughes Noland, in not only making a success of the final exercises, but contributing to the success of the entire scholastic year. Aside from training her own class for its entertainment, Mrs. Noland trained the Glee Club, which rendered several delightful numbers at each entertainment; organized and trained a "community choir" composed of the best singers of the town, who were of valuable assistance during the various exercises, and last but not least, presided at the piano in her own able manner throughout the long list of exercises covering over a weeks time, a task for which she is entitled and no doubt has the unstinted thanks of the entire community.

Dove Figures in Folklore.

The dove or pigeon has occupied a prominent place in folklore, legend and history since the bird brought the olive branch to Noah. The earlier artists used the dove frequently in their religious paintings. The "Madonna and Child," and the angels are shown with white pigeons fluttering about them. The bird was made the symbol of divine spirit. It appears in pictures of Christ's life and baptism. St. John (1:32) says: "I saw the spirit descending from heaven like a dove."

ABERDEEN-ANGUS SALE

42 HEAD CHOICE, HIGHLY-BRED BULLS 42 HEAD
COWS AND HEIFERS

FROM THE BRAD MAWR HERD

The Property of A. D. and Walker Bradshaw.

DANVILLE, KY., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16th

SALE WILL BE HELD UNDER COVER AT BRAD MAWR FARM, TWO MILES WEST OF DANVILLE, ON PERRYVILLE PIKE.

This is without question the greatest lot of Angus cattle ever listed for sale in the GREAT STATE OF KENTUCKY. They are the very cream of the breed. Their individuality is of sterling value and their bloodlines are of the most marvelous. The sires they represent are among the most distinguished. All the most fashionable and leading families are cataloged. Blackcaps, Blackbirds, Trojan-Erics, Prides of Aberdeen, Queen Mothers and other popular strains. There is not an objectionable animal in the offering. Scarcely one but would grace the most famous herd in the land.

Bull buyers will find 6 or 8 top-notch bulls for sale. Everyone bred in the purple and with individuality to recommend them to the most fastidious. Good ages. Ready for a heavy season's service at the head of some good herd of pure-bred cattle. If you are in the market for a bull, or going to be soon, it will be to your interest to come and inspect this superior lot of low-down, blocky, beefy, popular type bulls of great substance—well-developed baby-beef bulls.

The cows and heifers selected for this unusual annual event are of the most SUPERB kind. Individuality, coupled with the very best of bloodlines, is what you may expect to find sale day. Competition is keen for cattle of this kind and there are not enough to supply the demand. They are the kind to produce. The first calf many times more than pays the first cost of the cow and leaves a handsome profit. Many of these cows have calves at foot and will be rebred to extraordinary bulls. Also heifers that are bred, and open heifers that have been well developed and growing fast. Every cow or heifer in this sale will please and make good. You will appreciate them when you have seen them.

Angus breeders and beginners will find this the most opportune time to make desirable selections ever witnessed in the great state of Kentucky.

Shot Prove Fatal.

No was received here by relatives of the death of Russell Pearson, son of Mr. James Pearson of Richmond, who had the misfortune to get shot while spending the night with his schoolmate, Jenkins of Jolly Rife. The boys were tinkering with a pistol when it discharged, the shot ranging through his hand on into his intestines, making nine holes and one long slit. He was taken to the Gibson Hospital and two weeks after he had been there, he was operated on for appendicitis, which a week later, all proved fatal. He leaves to mourn his loss his parents, five brothers and one sister. Funeral services were conducted at Bond church near Richmond, his remains interred in the Richmond cemetery.

Bird of Ill Omen.

The raven figures in many superstitions and is invariably considered a bird of ill omen, and its unexpected appearance a sign of death or disaster. It was dedicated by the Romans to Apollo, and there is a strange Greek legend telling how the bird was changed from white to black.

Successful Author.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett was earning a small wage as a school teacher in Tennessee when she began to write. It is said that the stamps with which her first story was sent to the magazines were earned by picking blackberries. Years later, when the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" was at the zenith of her popularity as author and playwright, her annual income was estimated to be from $50,000 to $75,000.

AUCTION

ON THE PREMISES

Saturday, June 12th,
AT TEN A. M.

LOCATION— the Morris D. Long farm, 4 1/2 miles of Lancaster, on "Poor" Ridge pike, 1 mile of main or Buckeye pike. Rural route at door and only 3-4 mile from school.

IMPROVEMENTS—Consist of dandy two story frame six room dwelling, stock and tobacco barn, right at pike with beautiful frontage and grand view, good pond and everlasting springs. About 20 acres in blue grass, 40 acres in young clover and timothy, balance plowed out of grass for corn and tobacco.

Less than three acres of tobacco grown on this farm and housed in the above barn brought over $2200 last year. Its the kind of land that produces the best.

About 45 acres will be sold with the improvements, one tract of 20 acres and another of 33 acres with out buildings but with excellent frontage and building sites will be offered separately.

THIS FARM IS UP SELLING—The owner has bought a large farm to which he is to move.

REMEMBER, there will not be so many farms sold this year as previous years and the early picking is the best and cheapest. Don't wait to take what is left. We advertise SELLERS only.

Look this property over now; if the community is strange to you price the lands adjoining, ask the people who know this farm.

This sale will last but 45 minutes, be on hand promptly and bid to a buy.

THE GO-BETWEEN

By ALVAN J. GARTH

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

"You are surely my friend, Tresham," projected Willie Burton.

"Not so much as I was," seriously replied Hugh Tresham. "I don't like the bright, flippant way in which you treat what you call your 'tiff' with a young lady for whom I have the highest admiration and respect."

"Surely you aren't lit yourself in that direction!" called Burton derisively.

"We won't discuss that," replied Tresham with dignity. "You and I have known one another for a good many years and I am a passably loyal fellow, but the autocratic and indifferent way in which you treat the wounding of a trustful, sensitive heart hurts me."

"Oh! fix it up for me, ambassador royal!" spoke Burton airily. "Of course, I broke an engagement to take Vera to an entertainment and did some dithering with others under the provoking fullness of the little scold, but that is no reason why she won't make a move towards a reconciliation. Honest, I'm sorry, and I think a lot of her. Tell her so, smooth it over. She's got a cool $50,000 in her own right, is pretty as a picture and I'll marry her tomorrow if she's agreeable."

Hugh Tresham was something more than annoyed. He did not at all like the mission upon which he was being sent.

"You are straining my sense of propriety and justice, Burton," he observed. "You are asking an extraordinary duty of me, but I will hope that if I break the ice and open the way for you to effect a reconciliation, you will prize the treasure among womankind as she deserves to be."

"Yes, I'll turn over a new leaf," declared Burton. "Of course, I'm not going to report to her in tears or any of that sort, but if Vera will let bygones be bygones with nothing more said, I am willing to be reasonably meek and humble."

There was the trace of sneering audacity and egotism in tones of the unworthy lover and Tresham went his way with compressed lips and a pained and thoughtful face. Burton, the son of one of the most influential residents of Rayville, had been known to Tresham, just establishing a moderate law practice, for a long time. The latter owed many favors to Burton and until the past year had held him in high regard. He had been pained and disappointed at a great change in him, however, but was too loyal to tell others so.

It was a hard task he had assumed. There was a basis to the insinuation on the part of Burton that Tresham thought more than ordinary of the belle of Rayville society. From the first time that Tresham met Vera Driscoll he had realized that he had come across the only woman he could ever love.

Tresham reached the Driscoll home to find Vera seated in a garden hammock. She greeted him graciously, but her brow furrowed, those charming lips lost their smile and there was no encouragement in her eyes as Tresham clearly and at once divulged the motive of his call. He said all he had promised Burton to say. The dark expressive eyes flashed with something like scorn.

"Do you not think that the penitential appeal of Mr. Burton should have come from his own lips direct?" she asked.

"I have fulfilled a mission to a friend," responded Tresham simply. "May I hear a reply message to him?"

"I will think over what Mr. Burton has said," was Vera's reply.

Then the fair face cleared and she became the entertaining hostess complete with a man she respected and esteemed. Tresham sighed deeply as he left her presence. Its charm enhanced in his estimation the gulf of wealth between them, while emphasizing his convictions of the unworthiness of Willis Burton more decisively than before.

A week went by. Burton fumed and then sulked when he found that Miss Driscoll was not at all eager to take him back into her good graces. Then mysteriously it became known that the uncle of Vera, who operated a large manufacturing enterprise, had failed, and it was said that all of Vera's fortune had been lost in the crash.

It was just after then that Burton received a note from Vera, asking him to call. He did not reply and she was glad for reasons of her own. It seemed that a penniless bride was not the fancy of this very worldly and selfish young man.

Nobody looked down upon Miss Driscoll when she readjusted her life in accordance with a changed financial condition. She was a general favorite and preserved her wonted cheerfulness and exerted her helpful influence as before.

Willis Burton married into a newly rich family and flaunted the dazle of money bags like the cat he was. Hugh Tresham set studiously, seriously at work to console Miss Driscoll.

But he did not proceed far in that direction, for very quickly and very clearly Vera indicated that she needed no consolation as to her lost lover. In fact, she began to evidence an interest in the affairs of the young lawyer and a pleasure in his companionship that caused both to bless the money disaster that had led to love and its choicest blessings.

Want to Feel Just Right?

Take an NR Tonight

JUST TRY IT AND SEE how much better you feel in the morning. That "laid," hooded, tired, don't-know-what's-the-matter feeling will be gone—you'll feel fine.

TROUBLE IS, your system is clogged with a lot of impurities that your overworked digestive and eliminative organs can't get rid of. Bile, oil, salts, catenals and ordinary laxatives, cathartics and purges only loose the bowels and prod the liver.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and even kidneys, not forcing, but toning and strengthening these organs. The result is prompt relief and real, lasting benefit. Make the test. Nature's Remedy will act promptly, thoroughly, yet so mildly, so gently, that you will think nature herself has come to the rescue and is doing the work.

And oh, what relief! You'll be surprised to find how much better you feel—brighter, better every way. It's actually or rubbery constipation, take one NR Tablet each night for a week. Then you'll not have to take medicine every day. Just an occasional NR Tablet after that will be sufficient to keep your system in good condition—keep you feeling your best.

MORE ROCK AND LESS OIL ON THE STREETS.

It is reported that oil has been ordered for the streets and we will soon have another mess of it in our town. It is our firm conviction that these many water pockets on our streets should be filled with rock instead of oil. Oiling of streets may be sufferable when the surface is in condition to receive it but our main highways in Lancaster are far from such a condition at this time. A ride over the five main streets of our city discloses the lamentable fact that all are now most impossible to travel. What will be the condition next winter? To fill the holes with oil will do no good. The council has done but little work on any of the main streets during the past two years and as we understand it there are no plans to reconstruct either Stanford, Richmond, Lexington or Danville Streets this year. We hear it rumored that a move is on foot to build new streets and extend new streets.

It would benefit more taxpayers and be far better for the city and wiser business we think to put the main streets in a condition that the public may get in and out of town before new streets are built. We do not know who is responsible for the proposed oiling of the streets, and it is rumored that the council has not authorized any to do so, but be that as it may, we think that the money required to oil the streets could be better spent in repairing any one of the main highways leading into the city. More rock at this time and less oil is what the city needs.

An Important Aber- deen-Angus Sale.

In this sale A. D. and Walker
Bradshaw, formerly of Lancaster,
Ky., will dedicate their new farm.
They have selected choicely bred individuals with the most fashionable bloodlines. Every breeder in the great state of Kentucky should be glad to claim such progressive and enterprising breeders in their ranks as the Bradshaws. They have dreams of making the new farm one of the most historic in the commonwealth.
The cattle which they sell this time are strong in the blood of Plowman, which recently sold in the Kershaw sale for the record price of the breed, $40,000. Never has there been such a highly bred offering of Aberdeen-Angus in Kentucky. There is scarcely an animal listed that is not fit to add strength and prestige to any herd in the land. The bulls are suitable to head the best of herds, and should make good wherever they go. The Bradshaws have been constructive breeders. Every breeder in Kentucky should attend the sale and lend his support. Send for catalogs.

Following is reports of the Aberdeen-Angus cattle sales recently held in Iowa.

Various records were broken in the series of Aberdeen-Angus sales held in Iowa last week. The circuit opened at the Glyn Mawr Farm of Julius Tudor and Son at Iowa City on May 25th, where 68 head averaged $2,226. Sixty-seven females averaged $2,051, and the yearling bull Egret fell to the bid of R. W. Plummer, Marshalltown, Ia., at $14,000.
The top price for a female was $7,000, bid by Mead and Wegand,
Greene Iowa, for the four-year-old Blackcap of Glyn Mawr 4th.

On May 26 W. H. Cooper sold 42 females at Hedrick at an average of $3,209. The top price was $10,000, bid by P. J. Donohoe, Holbrook, Ia., for Ellura K., a five-year-old.
On May 27 in P. J. Donohoe's sale at Holbrook 51 head averaged $5,315.
The top bid was $15,000, which took Blackcap Lassie for D. J. Leeney, Oxford, Ia. Mr. Leeney also got Pine Park Elgon, a four-year-old bull, at $6,000. The 50 females averaged $5,302.

Miss Nora Baldwin's sale at Kes-wick on May 28 resulted in an average of $1,610 on 40 females. The top price was $5,800, bid by John Fitch, Lake City, Ia., for the three-year-old Blackcap Progress and cow calf.

The beautifully conditioned Rosen-gift offering of Carl A. Rosenfeld at Kelley on May 29, obtained an average of $1,505 on 54 head. The top price was $7,200, the successful bid of Anderson Bros., Tyler, Minn., for the three-year-old cow Blackcap Gwynn. Three bulls averaged $1, 417 and 61 females $1,500.

You will find cattle in the Bradshaw sale carrying the same blood as the ones sold in Iowa. The opportunity was never so good to start a pure bred herd of Angus cattle as it will be June 16th. Buy while they are cheap, they will be higher next year.

Garrard County Man Paroled.

The Board of Pardons in session last week paroled Clarence Cry sent up for life from Garrard County in 1904, and serving his term at Eddy-ville. Cry was a colored man, and resided in Davistown.

Fruit And Berries Plentiful.

We are to have apples, pears, peaches, plums, cherries and black and raspberries in profusion this year, but every sweet has its bitter, and there is decidedly more bitter than sweet this time, for the sweet wherewith to care for the bountiful crop of fruit and berries is so scarce and high as to place it beyond the reach of many of us.

Purebred Holsteins Shipped to Fulton Co.

Five purebred bulls have been distributed to the farmers in Fulton Co.
through the organized efforts of the county agent working with the bankers in that county. These bulls are strictly first-class being worth $450 a piece. Now the farmers are in the market for the two carloads of Holstein cows. This means Fulton County will have more and better dairy cattle in the very near future.

Farmers Visit Ex- periment Station.

Last Saturday 77 farmers from Madison County spent the day on the Experiment Station Farm. This represents the first delegation of farmers to visit the Station this season and seems to be a good indication that large groups of farmers from many counties in the State will plan to travel to the Experiment Station this summer to see results of experimental work along the various lines of agriculture. One of the Madison County farmers said, "I have learned enough to make the trip worth $100 to me," a pretty good price for a day's work.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The seventy-fifth session of the Southern Baptist Convention which was held at Washington May 12-17, was in many respects the greatest convention ever held by this important denomination. More than 8000 messengers were enrolled at the main convention hall, besides several thousands of delegates to the W. M. U. convention and many of visitors.

Reports showed that this denomination has increased 100 per cent in the last twenty-five years, while the number of churches have increased 300 per cent and total contributions have increased about 1,600 per cent.
These churches reported 75,000 conventions during the year and more than 92 millions raised in cash and pledges for missions and benevolence.

The session was well termed the Victory Convention and from beginning to end was replete with interest. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miles, Rev.
and Mrs. D. F. Sebastian, Miss Minerva Cox, Miss Rebecca Williams, Rev. C. D. Strother, and possibly others from this county, attended this convention and all report a splendid time and a most harmonious and victorious convention.

Chautauqua Committee

At a meeting of the guarantors of the Chautauqua which will be held here, July 2nd, the following committees were appointed: F. S. Hughes, Chairman; John M. Farra, Vice-Chairman; D. A. Thomas, Secretary-Treasurer. Advertising W. S. Carrier, Chairman; H. C. Sutton, R. L.
Elkin.

A meeting of the guarantors and the committees will be held at the Womans Club on Friday evening June 11th, at 7:30 P. M. and every member of the Womans Club is asked to be present to meet with the members of these committees.

Baptist Church.

On Sunday morning the pastor will preach on the subject, "JUDAS IS-CARIOT". It is possible for us to learn lessons that are well worth our while, even from the life of the meanest man. It is hoped that all will come in time for Sunday School.
Our school is on the upgrade and no Baptist in Lancaster can afford to miss it.

It was decided by the church Sunday to have a series of Revival Services sometime during the month of Sept., or Oct. We are not in a position to say, at present, who shall have charge of these services; but the pastor takes the liberty of announcing that we shall secure a preacher the whole town and the entire county will want to hear.

Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock the first Union service of the year will be held at the Baptist Church. Rev.
F. D. Palmer of the Methodist church will bring the message.
Everyone is cordially invited to be present.

C. D. Strother.

To The Citizens of Lan- LAD OF HANGING caster, Ky. FORK FARM.

Honorable Mayor, City Council and People of Lancaster, Ky:—

Whereas, the franchise now held by us is void by reason of being in conflict with the State Constitution, and Whereas, we have no franchise for operating our plant in the City of Lancaster, Ky., because the same is void as aforesaid, the City Council of the City of Lancaster, Ky., and the public generally are hereby notified that we will on August 1st, 1920, or as soon thereafter as practical, move all our poles and electrical equipment from the streets of the city of Lancaster, Ky.

This notice is given as a legal notice, as we understand that reasonable notice must be given before we can remove said property and discontinue said plant.

We are willing to do anything we can to co-operate with the city in securing a franchise for the purpose of furnishing electric light and power to the citizens of the city, but we can not continue it further without expensive additional equipment, and this we can not do at the present rates and without a legal franchise protecting us in our rights.

Hone this April 26th, 1920.

Bring that coat to Henry Moore that you picked up on the bench in front of the Court House. If you bring it to me nothing will be said. Henry Moore.

Morrow-Kinnaird.

Two of Central Kentucky's old and popular families were united this Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock when Miss Margaret Morrow became the bride of Mr. John Gill Kinnaird.

The nuptials were celebrated at the Mt. Auburn Methodist church, Cincinnati, the pastor officiating. Only a few friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present to witness the ceremony. The ceremony was impressive and at the conclusion the bride and groom were showered with congratulations and best wishes.

The bride was lovely in a dark blue chiffon cloth, eton style and wore a smart hat to match. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas and Mrs. Aaron Ward roses. She is a gentle woman, with all the sweetness and charms that glorify a life and make it a joy to hosts of friends. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Morrow, of this city, and is beautiful and charming. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Kinnaird of this city, and one of the most popular young men of this community. He possesses many traits of character worthy of imitation. He is in the automobile business and a splendid citizen in every sense of the word.

On Wednesday evening at the Gibson Hotel in Cincinnati Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Marksbury entertained with an elegant dinner party in honor of the couple. These from here who attended the wedding and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinnaird, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Marksbury, Mr. Paul Morrow and Dr. Virgil Kinnaird.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinnaird left immediately after the wedding for a short trip to Old Point Comfort, Washington City and other Eastern points and upon their return they will be at home to their friends with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walker on Richmond Avenue.

More Money

From Chickens.

With the present high prices of poultry products and the prospect of their being higher than was ever known this coming winter, the farm poultry flock should have the best possible care in order to reap the benefits of these high prices. The Poultry Department of the College of Agriculture has found that there are certain rules by which the farmer can cull out the unprofitable hens and dispose of them, thereby, saving the feed and allowing him to keep more of the productive ones. A circular has just been issued entitled "Cull the Early Molter," showing the farmers how they can go over their flocks and pick out the hens that are not laying as many eggs as they should.

WHY NOT DEPOSIT YOUR MONEY and Become Independent

The Garrard Bank & Trust Co.

Make Your Home a Cheerful Home

You can't expect folks to be happy and contented where the home is in half-darkness and penetrated by the smell of smoky lamps. Every member of your family is entitled to all the bright electric light which city folks have. If somebody asked you to buy an expensive plant that simply furnished light and no more, you might have some good arguments against such a purchase, but when you think of a lighting plant that is also a plant capable of operating any and every small machine on your place, that is another matter.

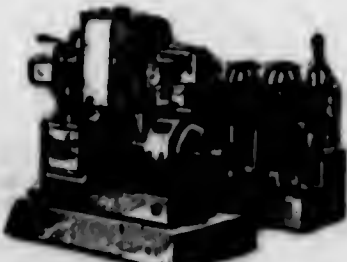

Genco Light

is such a plant. In addition to being a perfect electric lighting plant, it has a pulley by which machines can be run while charging your batteries. When this is done, your lights cost practically nothing. Genco Light is such a positive labor saver that owners figure that this power practically takes the place of farm help. It certainly does enable the help to do more; or less help to do the same work. Genco Light is not a luxury—it is a servant that will increase production and pay for itself in actual dollars and cents. You really owe it to yourself to call here with your wife and see this wonderful plant at work. May we expect you?

CLEANING UP

By MYRA E. MAJOR

There were six boarders at the home of Mrs. Luella Goodwin and they were a congenial and pretty well satisfied sextette. There was a Mr. Emil Gray and his young wife, the two Misses Ward, apothecaries, Gordon Lisle and Millie Forrester. The young man last named was an industrial engineer, the young lady an assistant bookkeeper, and with them principally the story has to do.

The Grays had just started out in married life, Gordon Lisle was at the time working on a salary and Miss Forrester was a beginner in her then existing position. She and the Grays were content to occupy rooms on the third floor, while Lisle had an apartment in the half attic. The Misses Ward, having an income from a small estate, were able to pay for more pretentious quarters on the floor below, but these grades of means did not affect the regard with which Mrs. Goodwin considered them. All were welcome to the double parlor on the first floor, and many pleasant concert evenings they passed. Mrs. Goodwin's delighted high priestess of so much harmony and comfort, Millie at the piano, Lisle accompanying her with his violin, the spinners always called upon for an old time duet and the Grays in an ecstasy of enjoyment sentimentally holding hands.

It was when there was a break in this perfect circle that Millie grew sad and thoughtful and the others lost their former home interest. The young man had told his friends enough to indicate that he had lingered in the city to contest a lawsuit which involved a large amount due him from an engineering corporation. The case went against him and he was a very much disappointed man.

"Somehow I lost all the important papers in the matter," he told Millie sorrowfully the evening they parted. "I have got to go back to hard work, penniless and defrauded. It is a disappointment to have you go out of my life, Miss Forrester," he added with deep feeling, "for your company has been a pleasure and an inspiration to me. I have asked my sister, Mrs. Hartley, to invite you to her home, for she will miss you, too, and it will be a solace to me to realize that you two are sometimes thinking of me."

"I shall never forget you," answered Millie with truth and emotion, and she broke down in tears after his departure.

Once a week after that on invitation Millie was an evening guest of Lisle's sister. They became true friends and more so than ever when on one occasion Mrs. Hartley told Millie that she was the only girl Gordon had ever loved and Millie, overcome, confessed that he had won the affection she had never before revealed. In heart to heart sympathy those two read the frequent letters the brother wrote to his sister and they sent back messages of hope and cheer.

Mrs. Goodwin, the kindly landlady, took her first vacation in twenty years and by a mere coincidence exactly at the time that Millie was apportioned hers. A helpful impulse came to the latter after she had decided that she would remain in the city during the two weeks' spell of leisure. Mrs. Goodwin had been kind and motherly toward her and Millie set at work to repay all her friendly consideration. The poorly landlady did her best, but amid her multitudinous duties she neglected cleaning house that spring. The vacant room that Lisle had occupied had not found another tenant.

In a systematic way Millie started to have a grand surprise for Mrs. Goodwin when she returned. Mrs. Gray gave her what assistance she could and the cleaning up program was good practice for the bride of a year and gave Millie a new insight as to household work.

Somehow it saddened, yet engrossed her to work in the room that Lisle had occupied. It had not been touched since his departure and he had left some framed pictures on the wall, there was an old straw hat in a closet and in wastebasket pencil sketches of bridge and conduit work that he had mapped out. On a window ledge Millie came upon a faded rose bud. She wondered if it was one she had worn in her hair and gave to him one evening.

Millie did not evade a thorough renovation of the neglected room. There was a wardrobe chest of drawers set in a niche and all of these she dislodged and scrubbed and made sweet and clean. As she was setting one back in the place her eyes fell upon a crumpled package of papers wedged in behind a lining board and the bottom of the wardrobe. She drew it forth. Ten minutes later, hurriedly dressed and all in a flutter, Millie hastened from the house to seek the sister of the man she loved.

"These must be the missing papers your brother so often told me about," spoke Millie breathlessly. "Oh! if so, do they not mean something to him?" and Mrs. Hartley uttered a glad cry as she looked them over.

"Oh, Millie!" she cried joyously, "they are the precious documents, indeed! We must wire Gordon at once. You glorious girl! You have restored his fortune and"—she paused and bestowed upon Millie an interrogative glance.

"Yes," replied Millie frankly and fervently, "and love, true and lasting, as it was his long ago."

Diamond Squeegee Tread TIRES

FULL OF LIFE

DIAMOND Tire users, we have to admit, are prejudiced.

Having experienced the superior service of Diamonds for years, they usually refuse to listen to a suggestion of a change.

"Why give up the old we KNOW for the new we DON'T KNOW?" they argue.

It's a hard argument to beat. It's easier to buy Diamond Tires and avoid all arguments.

THORNHILL WAGONS

Made In the Heart of the Hardwood Region

DURING the past ten years the automobile, the manure and lime spreader occupied the time of many wagon makers. But Thornhill stuck to the wagon and to the farmer trade. Over rough mountain roads, through swamps, at logging camps, these wagons did duty daily.

Thus the fame of the Thornhill spread, and the demand grew steadily greater.

Tough Highland Hickory

Their plant is located in the very shadow of mighty forests of mountain hickory. The ground is hard—the climate severe. The wood has to fight for life. So it grows sturdy and strong—close-grained and tough—well nigh unbreakable. It has nearly twice the strength of hickory that grows in softer ground, which is usually brittle-brash. The white oak, growing under similar conditions, develops a similar toughness.

The oak and hickory are dried outdoors under shelter and kept there from three to five years—so piled that the air can circulate freely. The sap dries in it.

Some say their location in the heart of the hardwood region is the reason why they can build such a wear-proof wagon. And this is partly true. For good, tough oak and hickory are things no man can make.

But much is due to their modern labor-saving plant. Materials start at one end of the plant and come out a finished wagon at the other. Each man does but a single task, and he does that task to perfection.

A Clan of Master Builders

But to the men are due many of the Thornhill long-wearing, light-running features. Years ago they attracted to their plant the masters of wagon building. They asked these men for improvements, and the men who made them received their just reward.

Together they worked out more improvements than had ever been made in the twenty years that went before.

Let us show you a Thornhill and demonstrate the value of Thornhill construction.

Less Shepherd had the misfortune to get his leg broken Sunday A. M. He went to the pasture and caught his horse and was riding back when another horse passed kicking him in the ankle. It is considered a very bad break. Drs. Montgomery and Carman set the bone. At present he is suffering very much.

Jerusalem! Jerusalem! Thou that killest the prophets and stonest them that are sent unto thee, how oft would I have gathered you unto me as a hen gathereth her brood under her wing and you would not.

Did I not beg you to buy the Sanders farm June 5th. You spineless men would not, Floyd Humphrey did and on Saturday the 8th three days later sold it for $2812.50 profit; just like finding wild strawberries; did not cost Humphrey one cent, just some nerve.

Now, Saturday at 2:00 P. M. June 19th, on the premises will sell the Kemp C. Walker farm on the Buckeye pike in Garrard County, about one mile from Buckeye, well watered, well fenced, good orchard, good residence and out buildings, good tobacco barn, good neighborhood; What are luxuries like these worth? Terms, Well, well, 50 per cent January 1st, the balance in ten years; the poor mans chance is knocking at his door. Now be on time, reserved seats for men, on yard fence. You will be requested to so balance yourself, that one third of your weight will be in front, will not be responsible for accidents unless directions are strictly observed.

Any lady or gentlemen who fails to be comfortably seated will be furnished with an onion set, the band will play home sweet home by water power. The day of wonders is here, N. J. Gosney who weighs 490 pounds will be on the ground and go up 800 feet high in a balloon and jump and light on the back of a Shetland pony running. $100 in gold will be given to the man who can find the pony after Gosney lights.

Then and now demonstrated, Joe Francis, Wood Burnside and Tond West will be on the ground dressed in bloomers, "BACK TO CHILDHOOD" with bowed heads, renew their allegiance to one of the ten commandments they have often bent if not broken. Ceremony will be performed by Punk Prather, ($10. reward will be given the woman or man who guesses the commandment.)

All the assembly who believe these boys will be true to their allegiance, both men and women, will stand on their heads while Ragedy Ross with hair pompoedored will sing, as we are going home.

What was that—the wind?
Wilson Brody started up from his cozy arm chair before a blustering fire in the grate and tent his ear toward the window past which the tempest was sweeping with vibrating force.

"It sounded like a shriek—a woman's scream," replied Brody, his sister.

Brody hurried on hat and coat and hastened out into the yard. As he came fully out into the street he was startled to observe a girl in the refuge of a street lamp, her hand raised bewilderedly to her head, just arising from the sidewalk.

"Are you hurt? What is it?" he inquired sympathetically, and caught her by the arm to steady her, noting a sweet, innocent face and gentle eyes, but just now filled with fear.

"A man," gasped the girl breathlessly. "He pushed me and I fell. He tore my satchel from my hand."

"There it is!" exclaimed Brody, as he noticed ten feet away the object in question. In his open, some of its contents being scattered on the sidewalk. Brody went to pick it up and the girl clung to the lamp post as he gathered up the articles.

"I think I have been followed, I feared it half a mile back from here—just why?"

"There were valuables?" questioned Brody.

"No, only my few belongings and some papers. Oh, see, sir," she cried in poignant alarm, as she gazed among the contents of the bag. "They are gone!"

"If you will tell me where you live I will see you safely home," suggested Brody, kindly.

"I am a stranger here," replied the girl. "I came to seek my father. I located his office and explained to a man in charge. I told him who I was and about the papers I had to identify me. He said that Mr. Robert Farr, that is my father, was absent. I am almost sure that he followed me."

Brody was puzzled, for the girl's statements were unusual and strange. But he read the truth in those innocent frightened eyes. Both sympathy and interest were aroused. Just then Eunice came to where they stood.

"What is it, brother?" she inquired and Brody repeating the explanation the girl had given, warm-hearted Eunice caught her arm and led the way to the house.

"Poor dear!" she murmured, "you must come in out of the storm." The girl was faint and drooping, but she revived magically as these good Samaritans placed her before the cheerful fire and Eunice brought her a steaming cup of tea.

"I am Myrtle Farr," she told them. "I have lived with an old aunt, an invalid, in New Mexico since my mother died when I was an infant. My father was away in Alaska at the time and never returned to see me. Through all these years he has trusted me to Aunt Cella, sending each year enough money to provide for both of us until lately. When she was dying she told me to go to him. Her only clue as to his whereabouts was that she had heard that he owned considerable property in this city."

"And you found him?"

"No, I only located an office bearing his name on the door. Those I inquired of said he had been here for only a few weeks."

"You must remain with us until my brother looks into this matter," declared Eunice and after Myrtle Farr was comfortably installed in a spare room they discussed the singular event that had brought this stranger to their threshold.

"I have seen Robert Farr at his office," reported Brody to Myrtle two days later. "I told him of your claim. He absolutely denies having a daughter or of ever hearing of you before."

Myrtle Farr was fairly crushed at this declaration. She was insistent on seeing the man who disowned her and asked Brody to accompany her to the office he had just left.

"That is Robert Farr," spoke Brody as they nearly reached the building he had just before visited and he pointed out a man entering it.

There came into the eyes of his companion a glow of sudden revelation. "That the Robert Farr," she whispered, strangely agitated, "who says I am not his daughter? Oh, Mr. Brody, there is some mystery here, for that man is not my father. Aunt Cella had a picture of him he sent her two years ago, and this man does not in any way resemble him. I had it among my papers."

There was more than mystery. There was plotting and wickedness, as Wilson Brody ascertained after a week's time devoted to unraveling the identity of the pretended Robert Farr. Through diligent application to the case and detective co-operation, he learned that the impostor and fellow conspirators had kidnapped the real Robert Farr, who lived in another place, and the principal schemer had come to the city intent on assuming his identity and claiming and selling his property.

A month later the plotter and his confederates were in jail, and the real Robert Farr, rescued from forced imprisonment, was a guest at the Brody home, glad and proud of the daughter he had never seen before.

And there they both remained, the father as a welcome member of the household, and fair Myrtle as the wife of Wilson Brody.

STRANGE CLOCK

Most Wonderful Time
piece in world wound
Every Sixty-eight Years.

Aurora, Ill., has what might be called the world's most powerful clock. It is an ingenious piece of machinery that took 40 years in the making. William Blandford, an 82-year-old Englishman, is the inventor. He died in America recently after a residence of 60 years, most of which time was spent in perfecting the clock. On his death Mr. Blandford left the invention to the City of Aurora.

Among the things the clock does are:

Disperses astronomical claims that equation of years could not be accomplished by machinery.

Has a calendar of 10,000 years—even the double leap years are provided for.

Time equation—operates automatically.

Has an astronomical dial, requiring winding, but once in 68 years, or but fourteen times every thousand years.

Is expected to operate without impairment or attention for 5,000 years.

Has a calendar which registers the number and name of each day, each month and each year.

Gives Latitude of City.

Gives the latitude east and west at 127 principal cities of the world, showing the time at any hour of the day or night in each.

Has an improved compensation pendulum which makes the clock accurate and is adjusted to normal temperature and automatically controlled by expansion and contraction in heat and cold.

Upper dial is governed by an eight-day movement.

Has a moon frame showing precisely the places of the moon, changing automatically at each quarter.

Shows the earth and its revolutions around the sun, the time it enters the constellation or signs of the zodiac, parallelism of the earth's axis, and the variations of the seasons.

Weights Weigh 100 Pounds.

Operated by two 50 pound weights capable of driving the mechanism for two months, when the weights are automatically rewound by an electric motor.

Has a thermometer and micrometer attachment showing the exact temperature within one-fiftieth degree Fahrenheit.

At night the several dials are automatically illuminated.

Blandford made the entire clock—structure, cabinet and mechanism. Beautifully carved, it stands nine feet in height, three feet in width and two feet in depth. The main dial is four feet in diameter.

Blandford was the son of an old English clockmaker. He came to Aurora, where he constructed this wonderful clock in a little workshop adjacent to his home. It was his dying wish that it remain in that city. Offers of purchase from cities and universities of the country have been declined by the city.

Stella Mae, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Grow aged four months died last Sunday of pneumonia.

Little Stella Mae suffered only two days and nights. All was done for her that loving hands could do, but the Lord knew best for her.

She was laid to rest Monday at 12 o'clock in the Lancaster Cemetery to await the coming of a brighter day.

Tobacco Plants Dying.

In some sections tobacco plants are dying in large numbers. It was first thought by some that the cause of this was the cold, wet weather; but investigation has shown that in some cases at least it is due to disease known as root-rot. There is a possibility of this becoming serious unless certain preventive measures are used. The college of Agriculture is studying this proposition and with the help of farmers who are having trouble with their tobacco plants, hopes to have some recommendations to offer in the near future. Of course, it is too late this season to do anything, but tobacco growers should get in communication with the College so as to plan to combat this disease another year.

The Bonus Bill.

The Bonus Bill which passed the lower House of Congress after forty minutes debate appropriating $1,600,000,000.00 for the benefit of the American soldiers in the World War will not get by the Senate at this session. This will be one of the big issues in the congressional races. This issue promises to bring a considerable conflict inside party ranks for there are hundreds of both democrats and republicans on both sides of the proposition. The financial and business interest of the country take the position that the country is in no condition at this time to appropriate so huge a sum, while on the other side others are urging this immediate relief to the ex-army men.

Are Our Youngsters Becoming Materialistic?

"What is the Good Book?" asked a teacher of her class.

Tommy raised his hand shyly.

"That is good, tell us, Tommy," encouraged the teacher, "What is it?"

"The check book!"
